JUDGE and Mrs. Long of Springfield who are passing the summer at Marblehead, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Day of Springfield who are in the Underwood cottage on the Shore Road for the season.

The death at the Oceanside last week of Mr. Clarence N. Flack of Troy, N. Y., cast a shadow over the mid-summer gaiety at the Hotel.

Mr. Flack had been a guest at the Oceanside for a number of seasons and had a host of friends at the hotel. Although his death came as a surprise Mr. Flack had been in ill health since early spring. He is survived by one son, Robert N. Flack of Troy.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Williamson of Quincy, Ill., came to Magnolia by motor the latter part of the week and joined his wife and many house guests at their Shore Road residence.

Miss Emily Gray, who is spending the season at the Hotel Aborn, entertained at luncheon her cousins, Miss Emily Chapman and sister, Miss Chapman, at the Aborn on Wednesday. The Misses Chapman are season guests at the Hawthorne Inn.

Miss Helen Johnson of St. Louis is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Otis Weld Richardson at her cottage on Oakes Road.

Mrs. Charles Chapin and children who have been spending the summer at "Wayside," the Summer street residence of Mrs. Chapin's sister, Mrs. John Chess Ellsworth, left for Maine the early part of the week where they will remain for the balance of the season.

Miss Florence St. John Baldwin of Boston had as her guest at the Oceanside on Monday, Mrs. Alexander Wadsworth of Boston. Mrs. Wadsworth is a season guest at the "Brownland Cottages" on Sea Street, Manchester.

Mrs. S. V. R. Bostwick and son Alan Ellsworth of Irvington-on-Hudson, old comers to Magnolia, spent the past week at the Oceanside, having apartments in the Perkins Cottage.

Mrs. Bostwick's oldest son, Randolph Ellsworth, is with a mine laying fleet somewhere off the coast of the British Isles. His engagement to Miss Dorothy Black of Irvington was recently announced.

Arrivals at Hotel Oceanside include: Mrs. E. W. Greenfield, New York; John B. Callery, Mrs. J. A. Wisner, Brooklyn; Mr. Wilson Catherwood, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kimball and family, Waterbury, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cappeau, Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Rush Rowland, New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lawrence, Mr. I. F. Brainard, Pitts-

East Gloucester

SEPTEMBER and Labor Day marks the conclusion of the active season, although the most enjoyable period of the year, the early New England "Fall" is yet to come. Nowhere is this season more delightful than by the sea. However, considerations of school and business call many home who otherwise would be glad to remain and from now on the travel tide will be outward. East Gloucester, as has all the rest of the Cape, experienced a most successful season and 1918 passes from the summer calendar with pleasant memories.

Arrivals at The Hawthorne Inn: Mrs. Harry George, New York City; Mrs. E. K. Sherman, Miss Barbara Sherman, Brookline; Mrs. Robert [unclear] Baltimore; Miss A. G. Keogh, Miss M. J. Keogh, Chelsea; F. A. Dudley, Philadelphia; Mrs. C. F. Connor, Edward Connor, New Bedford; Mrs. Charles du Vivier,

The Annisquam Region

THE Saturday's race of the Annisquam Yacht Club had to be postponed owing to a heavy squall after one class had started. The 15-footers got away in a nice sailing breeze from the southwest. They had been gone about five minutes when the skies blackened and the wind began to blow a gale. The boats had an exciting time in reaching the clubhouse.

The Snipe, sailed by Mr. Worcester, was blown ashore and the mainsail torn. The boat was floated and towed to its moorings.

Dr. and Mrs. Elliott of Boston and Provincetown are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Day.

Rev. Judson P. Martin and family have just returned from a visit of two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. George Frederick Simpson, of Lane Rd., have gone to their home in Newton for a week and while there will attend the Readville races.

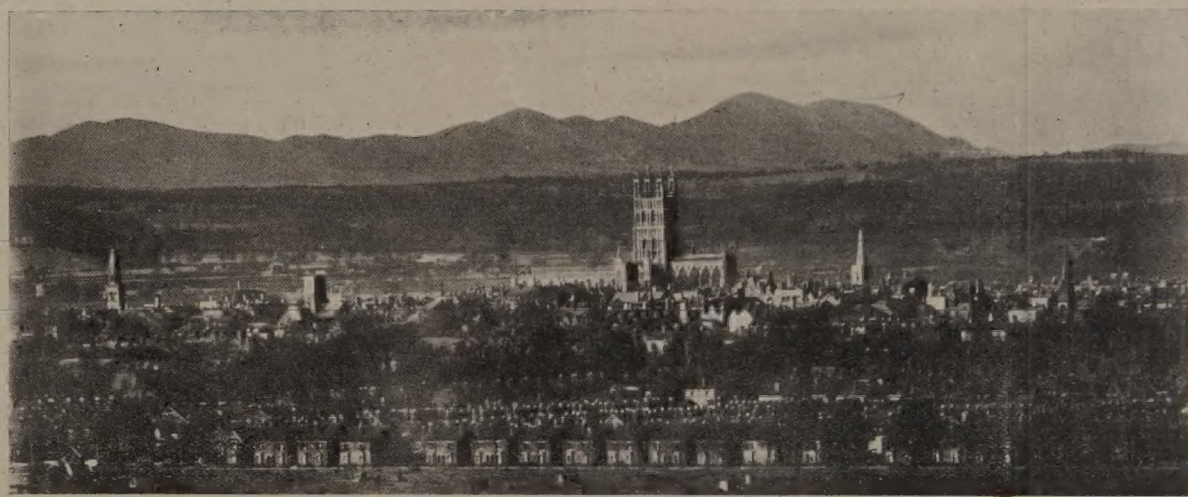

The Rockport Shore

AVERY pleasant dinner party was given on the veranda of Hotel Edward, Pigeon Cove, Friday evening by Mrs. Margaret Berry in honor of Misses Mary A. Thomas and Maude L. Thomas of Rockport and Catherine Chisholm of Dorchester, who is stopping at Pigeon Cove. The affair was entirely informal and delightful, following which an entertainment was given in the "lounge" of the hotel by Miss Maude L. Thomas and Miss Chisholm. The latter, who is nine years old, and the niece of Mrs. Berry, is a dancer of unusual ability and a pupil of Miss Nellie Ferguson. She delighted the guests with several numbers, while Miss Thomas, a pupil of Prof. John A. O'Shea of Boston, rendered some vocal selections, which were of a high order. The young artists were warmly received and their efforts merited fully the applause that they were given.

Arrivals at The Edward, Pigeon Cove:— Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Paul, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Seibold, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. King, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Carpenter, Miss Doris Carpenter, Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. George Swift, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Sutcliffe, Newark, N. J.; Mrs. E. M. Greenfield, Mrs. B. A. Jackson, New York; Capt. and Mrs. H. R. Audet, Master Thomas Audet, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Worcester, Jane Worcester, Townsend; Mrs. W. B. Nelson, Miss W. D. Nelson, Miss I. D. Clark, New York; Mrs. Beatrice Farquar, Newton; F. B. Kendall; Boston; Mrs. H. Hallet, Arlington; Seveas, Boston; Worcester; William Ingle, Baltimore; Mrs. W. D. Ryder, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Ryder and two children, Franklin, Pa.; Sabina Anderson, Arlington; Dr. and Mrs. F. Holyoke, Holyoke, Mass.; Dr. J. A. Learey, Miss O'Leary, Wakefield; Dr. Clara M. Sweet, Miss Mary L. Brooker, Miss Edith L. Cummings, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Billings, Mrs. F. M. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Thurston, Hartford, Conn.

Rev. Father Scully of New York is at the Jewett cottage, Pigeon Cove. Mention of the "Jewett" cottage recalls the fact that its former owner, Sara Jewett, was one of the foremost actresses on the American stage some twenty-five years ago. She was a familiar figure in Pigeon Cove and during the last years of her life was an invalid.

Late arrivals at The Ocean View, Pigeon Cove: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Frazer, N. Y. City; Sally MacAllester, Newtonville; M. Grace Feckett, Westfield; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bankart, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Hamond, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. White, Providence; Sarah S. Hicks,

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Wise Wood have returned from a stay of ten days in Skowegan, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Shields and their son, Dr. William Shields of Germantown, Pa., are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Ellwood E. Shields.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Duley and son of Northfield are visiting relatives in Lanesville.

Mr. John H. Wilkin the jeweler entertained a party of friends Sunday at his camp at Plum Cove Park.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Gill, who have been occupying the Bayside cottage on Nashua avenue for a week, have returned to their home in Melrose.

J. J. Burke of Cambridge, who spends his week-ends at "The Bonnie View," and David Fogelgren, caught a 500-pound shark Sunday morning which caused quite a little excitement at Marchant's Cove.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE CAPE ANN SHORE, now in its twenty-second consecutive season, is the only summer resort publication on Cape Ann. It reaches every section of the cape, and is the only means of communication of the kind between the merchants and the summer residents. Therefore its value as an advertising medium is self-evident. It contains each week a full and complete account of the social happenings of the summer resort section. It occupies a place by itself in the advertising field, reaching the most profitable customers along the North Shore. Advertisers should remember these facts. PRINTED AT THE OFFICE OF THE BARRY PRINTING COMPANY, SALEM, MASS.

NOTICE

Owing to the absence in the Naval Service of the conductor of this paper and inability to attend to the advertising end of the proposition; the urgent demand of the Government for the saving of white paper and the scarcity of labor, the number of pages of this publication is, perforce, reduced. After the Great Peace and normal conditions, the paper will be issued at its usual size.

A Scare That Failed

Another bogey of the summer hotel proprietor has been laid—the submarine scare. During July and August the undersea boats have been active off the coast—in August especially so. The more active and the nearer Cape Ann the scene of their operations the more the demand for hotel and cottage accommodations.

The people who come to the North shore like those of London and Paris, refused to become intimidated by the threat of the invader and one of the prime purposes of this visitation—to throw a scare into the people of the seaboard has failed. But the probability is, yes the assurance, that after this war the submarine as a menace to any country will be eliminated.

The season, on the whole, has been a good one. All concerned have profited. The summer business of Cape Ann is too firmly stabilized to be shaken seriously by any adverse happening.

The great factor in the success of the season is the temperature. The intense heat which has prevailed during the past two months between the Rockies and the Hudson river has driven coastward those who could get away from its wrath, Hun submarines notwithstanding. Camille Flammarion, the imaginative French scientist, in his work, the "End of the World," written some 25 years ago, pictured the last couple surviving on earth the rest of the race having succumbed to the cold caused by the gradual lessening of the heat of the sun. To escape the intense cold the Adam and Eve of the final stage setting, mount in their flying machine—now an actuality—to the desert of Sahara. The cold there proving unendurable they depart for a spot in the Himalayas the hottest place on earth. But again no relief. They succumb and at the end of the chapter, the last of the life on old Mother Earth, lie clasped in each others arms and the snow silently falling covers them gradually. Such is the conception of the brilliant Frenchman of the end of life on the planet. Better that however than the wiping out of the race in a heat holocaust.

The End in Sight

The fifth year of the war is being waged. While the Germans have shot their bolt as far as taking the offensive to any appreciable degree is concerned, there is no reason to expect an early collapse of the war. President Wilson and Lloyd George have decreed that the Hohenzollerns must go. The Hohenzollerns naturally will fight to the last gasp to retain the heritage which came down from the founder of their race. Hence we may expect to see the struggle prolonged two or three years more. But he that takes up the sword shall perish by the sword. Including the Crown prince and the rest.

By this time next year the Germans will probably be driven across the Rhine and the French flag will be flying from a redeemed Alsace-Lorraine. Matters will look much brighter on the Eastern front. Austria may have thrown up the sponge and all that remains of Turkey will be the wishbone.

Next year America will be in position to strike with maximum force by sea, on land and from the air, and then the finish will be a matter of a short time. Germany will rank with the fourth rate powers.

"Venetian Festival" a Success

The North shore summer colony responded in force Saturday afternoon at "Graftonwood" the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Lancashire at Manchester-by-the-sea the attraction being "The Venetian Festival" under the patronage of the Italian Ambassador, Count Macchi di Cellere, the Countess, the Royal Italian consul, Gustavo di Rosa and Mme. di Rosa. The proceeds will go to the Italian War Relief Fund of America.

Among the special features were dances by Michio Itow, the Japanese dancer; Miss Tulle Lindahl, and Komura; Tarantella dances in costume, and popular Italian street songs by a group of strolling musicians in charge of Mrs. R. T. Paine, with accompaniment of guitars and mandolins.

FORTUNE-TELLING BOOTH

Miss L. M. Corlies conducted a fortune-telling booth, and there was a table of gifts donated for the occasion, in charge of Mrs. R. S. Bradley and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas.

Mme. Elvira Leveroni, contralto, of the Metropolitan Opera, sang, and during the intermission Lieut David Constantini of the Italian Mission at Washington gave a brief address.

The officers of the fund are: President, Professor Charles H. Grandgent of Harvard; vice-presidents, Consul Gustavo di Rosa of Boston, Thomas Cummings and George A. Moriarty, jr.; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Henry L. Mason. The Countess di Cellere is chairman of the workroom committee; and among the honorary officers are Count di Cellere, Galli-Curci, the singer; Mrs. John Elliott, Mrs. John Hays Hammond and William Rosecoe Thayer.

Miss Bertha Greenleaf of Newburyport is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ralph T. Hale.

Chaplain Tuttle of the Fishermen's Institute gave a very interesting illustrated talk on the work of the Institute at the Wenasquam Lodge Sunday evening. A large and appreciative audience listened to the talk.

The cottage at Diamond Cove of the Misses Annie M. & Susie Shea of Waltham is now occupied by Miss Edna Jordan of Melrose.

Community Theatricals Score

The second performance of the season at the Playhouse-on-the-Moors, took place Monday evening before an audience that filled the edifice.

The plays were "The Maker of Dreams," by Oliphant Down, "The Bank Account," by Howard Brock and "Suppressed Desires," by George Cram Cook and Susan Glaspell. All were successfully presented.

In "The Maker of Dreams," Hester Cunningham, of this city, made a hit as "Pierrot" and Mrs. Edward Parsons was pleasing as "Pierrette." Miss Cunningham sang sweetly Sara Teasdale's "Love Poems," with special musical arrangement by Percy Lee Atherton, of Boston. The scene was a room in an old cottage. Lester Holland as the manufacturer was good in his part.

The second play was "The Bank Account," first produced at the 47 Workshop, Harvard University. The scene was a living room of the Benson's flat. Miss Anna Willard Hosford, who made such an excellent impression in "Two Burglars and a Lady" at the first performance at the Playhouse-on-the-Moors was clever in the part last evening, as Mrs. Lottie Benson. James Macfarlane Lyle answered the role of Frank Benson with realism and ease of manner and Miss Annabella E. Stevenson gave a good impression as Mrs. May Harding in the play, a friend of Mrs. Benson.

"Suppressed Desires" was the concluding presentation. Miss Susan Steell was Mrs. Henrietta Brewster, a pupil of the psychic. Thomas Crosby was Stephen Brewster and Miss Sally Shute of this city, who also was in the first performance last month was humorous and clever in her role.

The stage effects were under the direction of Miss Lucy Conant, of Boston, and they were artistic and effective in color scheme.

During the evening, between the plays, Miss Melba Proctor of Brookline and Eastern Point, appeared in an "Old Fashioned Dance," in crinoline costume, and she also presented the "Dance of the Golden Goddess," in a brilliant golden costume, winning the appreciation and hearty applause of the audience. Miss Laila G. Proctor presided at the piano.

Again, great credit is given to Miss Florence Cunningham for her skill and labor in directing these plays.

The performance was repeated Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Country Fair a Success

One of the most attractive lawn fetes of the summer season, was the Country Fair and McDougal's Alley, held recently on the grounds of the Hawthorne Inn. Aside from interest in the Hawthorne Inn Casino War Fund, local worthy institutions were remembered, the Gloucester Fishermen's Institute and the Gloucester District Nursing Association.

A keen interest was taken in the fair, both in the providing of booths and attractions by the summer people and local workers. A large number of people patronized the affair.

Mrs. Alice Fischer Harcourt had charge of the arrangements.

The grounds of the hotel presented a gay and festive scene, with the handsomely decorated booths and the galaxy of color. The scene at night was especially attractive with the

NEXT TO POST OFFICE

IN the '30's and '40's, long before the day of the iron horse, some of the most noted literary men and women came annually to Pigeon Cove. They journeyed to Salem by railroad, thence to Cape Ann by stage coach. Ralph Waldo Emerson, William Cullen Bryant, John Greenleaf Whittier, Richard H. Dana, Rev. Dr. Chapin, Bronson Alcott, and others of note were among the colony.

The following from Emerson's diary is inscribed on a bronze tablet placed in the granite bluffs fronting the ocean at the extreme point of Cape Ann:

"Returned from Pigeon Cove where we made acquaintance with the sea for seven days. 'Tis a noble friendly power and seemed to say to me 'Why so late and slow to come to me? Am I not here always; thy proper summer home? Is not my voice thy needful music; my breath thy healthful climate in the heat; my touch thy cure? Was ever building like my terraces; was ever couch magnificent as mine? Lie down on my warm ledges and learn that a little hut is all you need. I have made this little architecture superfluous and it is paltry beside mine.' Here are twenty Romes and Ninevehs and Karnacks in ruins together! Here they all are, prostrate or half piled and, behold, the sea, the opaline, plentiful and strong, yet beautiful, as the rose or rainbow, full of food, nourisher of men, purger of the world, rendering a sweet climate and in its unchangeable ebb and flow and its beauty; at a few furlongs giving a hint of that which changes not and is perfect."

Old Gloucester Adopts Us

A British American Fellowship was formed in England with the object of extending the hospitality of individual British communities to officers and men of the American forces by a system of "adopting" places in America. Mayor John A. Stoddart has just received a letter from The Worshipful, Mayor James Bentam of Gloucester, England, stating that Gloucester, England, has adopted Gloucester, Mass., and is looking forward to the pleasure of extending hospitality to the officers and men from this city who are now overseas with the American Expeditionary Forces.

The most friendly relations have always existed between the two Gloucesters and there has been considerable correspondence between the two cities in the past. The war and the new Fellowship should cement and make that feeling even stronger. Mayor Stoddart has replied, acknowledging the receipt of the communication and accepting with the greatest of appreciation any hospitality that Gloucester, England, can extend to the soldiers or sailors from Gloucester, Mass.

FROM THE OLD TO THE NEW

The letter follows:

Guildhall, Gloucester, 28th June, 1918.

Dear Mr. Mayor:—A British American Fellowship was recently formed with the object of extending the hospitality of individual British Communities to the fighting men of the Saxon nations of the world. The Right Hon. The Earl Beauchamp, K. G., is the President of the Fellowship and the headquarters are at King's House, Kingsway, London, W. G.

The Society has made arrangements both in France and England, where-by full information as to leave and the personal wishes of both officers and men will be collected; and one of the duties of the society will be to bring such officers and men into touch with the local organizations offering hospitality.

The society has been in communication with the Commanding Officers of the United States Army, and Navy, the American Red Cross, and the Organizing Secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. in this Country and France. They are all in full accord with the objects aimed at and most willing to give their whole-hearted support.

The matter was mentioned at a meeting of the City Council on Wednesday last; and I write, with the approval of the Council, to assure you that the Citizens most gladly adopt Gloucester (Mass.), and will take a real pleasure in extending hospitality to officers and men who may come from that city with the American forces. I trust this may be a means of strengthening the friendly relations which have for many years existed between the two Gloucesters.

While I write officially to inform you and your fellow citizens of the formation and objects of the society and of the readiness of Gloucester to welcome officers and men from your city, it is understood that the society will endeavor to let us know of officers or men wishing to visit the city.

I am,

Yours very faithfully,
James Bentam, Mayor.

The Worshipful,
The Mayor of Gloucester (Mass.).

strings of incandescent lights hanging in the trees. Festoons of signal flags were stretched across the lawns and the piazzas of the cottages were used for booths as well as the spacious piazza of the main house of the hostelry used for the serving of tea and ice cream. Then again, the large tennis court prettily decorated with greenery on the wire-netting of the enclosure towards the water front, was a bright spectacle with its merry dancers in the evening. The house orchestra, Arthur B. Sewall leader, furnished music. The dancing took the place of the regular Wednesday evening dance in the casino.

There were a great many attractions, the side show, the booths, fortune tellers, grabs, the tea room, "Tito Tip," the largest elephant in captivity, cleverly arranged by Mr. Morgan, an artist, two tall men inside filling out the cloth and 'stepping and manoeuvring in a realistic and humorous way. Mr. Morgan was costumed as an Indian elephant driver and he attracted the people to his celebrated animal by the toot of a horn.

The really great hit of the day's fete was the side show and over $250 was realized from this feature of the fair.

Mrs. Barrett Ridgely of the Inn, was chairman of the committee, being gowned in a striking green silk old-fashioned costume, with a parasol. She was assisted by Mrs. Lewis Dugas of the Delphine and Mrs. Wellington Jones of the Inn.

College Women's Club

The Gloucester College Women's club extends a cordial invitation to all college women of the summer colony who have attended or are now in college, to come to their next meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 4th, at 6.30. It will be held at The Barnacle Annisquam, the home of Miss Nancy Flagg, Wellesley '93.

All are invited to bring a picnic supper and their college song books.

The Club will be addressed in the evening by one of their own members, Miss Martha Brooks, who has recently taken an intensive course at Harvard in Supervision of Women Employees.

Miss Laura Ella Cragin, author of children's stories, will read from other works.

The Barnacle Tea House

Miss Adeline Carter of Providence entertained Monday the following guests at The Barnacle: Mrs. Thomas H. Rogers, Miss Marguerite Rogers, Miss Carrie George of Haverhill, Mrs. Wm. H. Pear, Mr. Cecil Cantrell.

ANOTHER HONOR

Miss Anna Vaughn Hyatt, Sculptor of International Fame, Secures The Year's Leading Commission

Miss Anna Vaughn Hyatt of "Seven-acres", Annisquam, the sculptor of international fame, has achieved another triumph inasmuch as she has been awarded the commission to model a cascade fountain for the Schwab gardens at Loretto, Penn., the design having been selected by Charles Leavitt, the eminent landscape consulting artist from many submitted by the leading sculptors of the country. Two of the figures, on either side of the cascade represent a boy holding a scarletta Russian fish; the other being a Japanese crane originally and effectively treated. These gardens will be one of the country's show places.

She is engaged at her studio in modeling the production which will be of large size. Her equestrian statue of Joan D'Arc on Riverside drive, New York, was recently decked with flowers by order of the French government in recognition of the valor of Americans in France.

Thursday afternoon a large number of the North Shore colony were accorded a view of the fountains and figure pieces at a studio tea, Miss Hyatt being assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. Alfred Goldsborough Mayor. The virile and original conception of Miss Hyatt and her artistic treatment of the work evoked much favorable comment. The center of an interested group was Mrs. "Jack" Gardner who is this season occupying a cottage at Eastern point.
